- Umesh Yellaboina.

Vibhaga an online network (website), which provides multiple online services through its website. It was started in the year 2017 by Umesh Yellaboina with the domains “Vibhaga.com” and “Vibhaga.in”.

Initially, it was started with a plan to make a Listing Directory website, with an aim to provide business listings where individual users can register and create their own business listings on the website to showcase about their services and products of their business/company. The main aim of the website is to provide the end users to access information of the businesses through the listings which were directly updated by the business owners, end users can search them through a user-friendly advanced search engine, where the exact location of the business is provided beside. Another option is provided to the end users to express their feedback in the form of reviews, where the customers can give their reviews in the form of star-ratings and a brief comment/feedback with images. A messaging option is also provided on the business listing pages to contact the businesses directly through our website.

Through this, had a plan to create an awesome user-friendly online platform between the businesses and the end-customers, where the businesses have a chance to promote about their services to the end customers and generate quality business/leads. And end users/customers can find the best business/company on our website with the complete information and exact location and by referring the reviews.

Later, Mr. Umesh Yellaboina came up with a new plan to include multiple online services through the websites. Before knowing about this, let you know about our company title and domain name.

As discussed, our company title and domain is “Vibhaga”, this word is taken from the Sanskrit language, which is an ancient Indian language, this language doesn't have any kind of writing scripts or 'Lipi' (We mean, that it don't have writings, i.e. alphabets or characters). This language is only a vocal-communication from many years ago, and it is considered Traditional language. Here the term 'Vibhaga' means directory or a section, similarly, this word has multiple synonyms, they are 'Section', 'Division', 'Sector', 'Directory', 'Part'. Before finalizing the title of the company/website, a research was done by Mr. Umesh Yellaboina on this language and some words for around 2 to 3 months. Mr. Umesh initially made his website plan and services, then he finalized this title after the research which suits the services better.

By birth, Mr. Umesh Yellaboina was a Hindu, with his keen interest in Hindu traditions and ancient histories, had a habit of reading books to explore more about Ancient India and its cultures. These habits and interests made him pick the company/website title from a traditional Indian language, this made him opt this Sanskrit word as the domain and company title.

So, with his plan to provide multiple online services through this website, he started following sub-projects. They are:

1. News.Vibhaga.com
2. Jobs.Vibhaga.com
3. Realestate.Vibhaga.com
4. Store.Vibhaga.com
5. Trade.Vibhaga.com
6. Social.Vibhaga.com
7. Forum.Vibhaga.com
8. Edu.Vibhaga.com
9. Arts.Vibhaga.com
10. Ads.Vibhaga.com

Covering all these websites through the subdomains, had a plan to make a main website “Vibhaga.com” as a search engine. Here, the main website is a search engine based website which covers all these sub-websites and shows the results only through the above websites.

This main website helps the end-users what exactly they are searching for, similarly like Google.com. Here the Google shows the results from all the websites which were open to the public on the internet, but our search engine shows only the results from our own network, i.e. from our websites.

Through this, the user who visits the main website can access the info or services by searching his query on our search engine. This overall plan may sound like ‘Google Network’, but there is some difference between Google and Vibhaga. Google shows info or content which is openly accessible to the public which is provided by other websites also. But Vibhaga provides its own services, where the content or info provided online on its own network.

Initially, the overall plan and the project is initiated with sub-projects. First sub-project which is initiated and completed including development work is 'Jobs.Vibhaga.com'. And the next sub-project 'News.Vibhaga.com' is initiated. Till now, the work is being done by Mr. 'Umesh Yellaboina' himself and continuing. Usually, to complete this kind of Megaprojects requires a lot of resources and moreover huge human power.

Jobs Vibhaga:

The title of this sub-project and sub-domain is 'Jobs Vibhaga', and slogan/tag-line for the title is "Dedicated job portal for unemployed job seekers". Initially, the portal was designed and developed with the main aim to provide best online recruiting services for Education Industry and Hospital Industry. In first, Mr. Umesh Yellaboina came with a tagline "A dedicated job portal for Education & Health Care Industries", but later it was changed.

After doing the rigorous research on current online job-portals, Mr. Umesh came up with his own website plan, which is very advantageous to the Job seekers and Employers. Here the job seekers can search for the jobs using an advanced search engine, and can directly apply on the site by registering with a resume. Job seekers are provided with many alternatives to register on the website and to import their resume. They can use their social media profiles to register on the portal with a single click, and can import the resume from 'LinkedIn'.

'Jobs Vibhaga' is designed and developed by setting one of its goals to be 'User-Friendly', Users are provided with many features/options, they can register directly on the website as a job seeker or employers. Users who are searching for jobs can register as a candidate (Job Seeker) and can create their online resume on the following page:

<http://Jobs.vibhaga.com/submit-your-resume/>

On the above page, users are asked for their details which are required to prepare an electronic resume, even the users can upload their resume file through the submission form, which is used for employers to understand the candidate's profile briefly.
